Art Unit: 1653

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-13 and 20-25, drawn to a peptide and a method of using PKB, PKB analogues, etc., to regulate glycogen synthesis and/or protein synthesis, classified in class 514, subclass 2.
- II. Claims 14-19, drawn to an assay for identifying agents which influence GSK3 or PKB activity, classified in class 435, subclass 15.
- III. Claim 26, drawn to a product which influences the activity of PKB by reacting with PKB, classified in class 435, subclass 194.
- IV. Claims 27-30 and 34, drawn to a method of determining the ability of a substance to affect the activity or activation of PKB, classified in class 435, subclass 15.
- V. Claims 31-33, drawn to a method of identifying activators or inhibitors of GSK3, classified in class 435, subclass 15.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because:

The methods of Groups I, II, IV, and V are patentably distinct from each other because of the materially different reagents involved (e.g., GSK3 versus PKB, agents which are PKB analogues, isoforms, inhibitors, activators, and/or functional equivalents versus agents which potentially react with PKB) and the materially different results achieved (e.g., therapeutic treatment, identification of agents which influence GSK3 or PKB activity, identification of agents which affect phosphorylation of PKB or GSK3).

The products of Groups I and III are patentably distinct from each other because of their materially different structure and function (e.g., PKB analogues, isoforms, inhibitors, activators, and/or functional equivalents versus agents which react with PKB analogues, isoforms, inhibitors, activators, and/or functional equivalents).

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Groups II-V is not required for Group I, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

2. If the invention of Group II is elected, Applicants will further be required to make the following election of species:

This application contains claims 14-19 directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: (a) assays involving GSK3; and (b) assays involving PKB. These species are patentably distinct because GSK3 and PKB are materially different enzymes having materially different functions.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 16, 18, and 19 are generic.

Applicant is advised that a response to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

3. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention and/or species to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

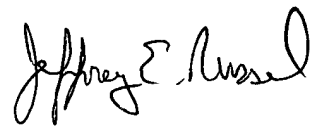

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

4. The Sequence Listing filed December 3, 2001 was approved by STIC for matters of form.
